M. Harr, member of the House of Delegates, to be Mine Inspector of the First District. This is a clear case of an office for a vote.

Harr was elected as a Labor Delegate from Governor Fleming's own county. From the day of his election a death to bread-winning, eight hours to refreshing slumber, eight hours to the enjoy-stone-cutters of Boston, the cigar-makers of New York, the carpenters of Phila-delphia, the plumbers of Chicage, and so on through the country, are to de-they knew that everything everywhere was to be adjusted to the same working scale. This would not remove all the difficulties, but it would keep out of the problem a factor of uneavenness which the plan of campaign is to introduce.

If the eight-hour day were the rule throughout the United States something If the eight-hour day were the rule throughout the United States something would yet remain to be done, or employers and wage-earners alike would suffer grievously. The tariff would have to be adultated to the new arms. suffer grievously. The tariff would have to be adjusted to the new condition.

would rush in to share the benefit and in she rush elbow out of the way an ual number of our own citizens for whom it is sought to provide employ-When we go at this thing we must cnow just what we are about, realize that it is to be a great industrial depar ture, make intelligent preparation for it and then stand up to it to the end.

Marion county is doing pretty well in hese days. She has the Governor, the Secretary of State, the Assistant Adjutant General and the Mine Inspector.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS Chose Mr. H. H. Pendleton as the Success to Clerk Woods-Other Business.

The special meeting of the Board of County Commissioners held yesterday fternoon for the purpose, principally, of electing a successor to Clerk Charles Woods, who resigned his effice in order Woods, who resigned his effice in order to accept a better and more permanent position in the office of the Belmont mill, resulted in Mr. Henry H. Pendleton being chosen to ill the unexpired term to which Mr. Woods was elected when this Board organized. There were seven other candidates for the office and it took thirteen ballots to bring about a choice, Inselecting Mr. Pendleton the Commissioners have chosen a young man of ability and strict integrity, which will faithfully and carefully altend to the business entrusted to his hands. Mr. Pendleton is well known in this community; he was formerly Clerk

From the day of his election a death watch of Marion county Democrats, personal friends of Governor Fleming, was placed over him.

When he reached the State Capital he was watched day and night. It was not thought safe to let him go anywhere alone, and so his cousin, another Harr from the same county, was established in Charleston ostensibly to run the elevator in the Capitol Building, really to be paid out of the State Treasury for standing guard over Delegate Dave.

This same Delegate Dave was courted and watched all through the regular session, Fleming's friends fearing that he might vote to force obedience to the Constitution in the opening and declaring of the vote for Governor. He was courted and watched algain during the critical extra session, the Democrats fearing that was read and accepted, and then the following, offered by Mr. Vollinger, was adopted.

The Register's Point Pleasant correspondent, telling of the recent corporation election in that place, said: "Altogether it was a cold day and a bitter one for the Republicans." There was no political contest on that occasion. There was no Republican ticket in the field. But the Register prevarieator was abroad just the same.

The Working Day.

Arrangements for an eight-hour movement on May 1 are progressing. Those who are taking an active part are not confident of success, nor does the programme appear to have been definitely decided on.

There is a charm and some philosophy in the cry, "Eight hours for what we will." Eight hours for the enjoy-incomine slumber, eight hours to the enjoy-incomine slumber. The Board aljourned to meet next Thursday at the Poor House, for the processing of examining the place and making up the estimate of the appropriation needed for that department.

Some Foolish People,

ing slumber, eight hours to the enjoyment of home, to development of mind and body, to an intelligent interest in public affairs, would be the ideal day. Perhaps we shall reach this high plane and reach it sooner than is now thought. So far as the change has been outlined it does not give the best promise. The movement is not to be general, but by cities and by trades. For example, the stone-cutters of Boston, the cigar-makers

Other trades, and the men in the same trades in other cities, are to continue as at present in order to furnish money to support those who strike. As the movement succeeds other trades and other cities are to follow until the circuit shall be complete. The movement would start with much better chance of success if it were made general, every trade in every part of the country making its demand at the same time. John P. Barton Dead.

John P. Barton, a well known resident of Belmont county, living at Barton's Station, a short distance out the Cleve-land, Lorain & Wheeling road, died at 55. The cause of his death was paralysis. Some time ago the deceased suffered a partial stroke, from which he never recovered, and Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock he was stricken again, and from this last stroke he never railied. Mr. Barton was a son of ex-Judge Barton, of Colerain, and a brother-inlaw of Mr. R. C. Meyer, of the Bellaire Herald; he leaves a wife and a large number of friends to mourn his loss.
